GEORGETTE B. HALL

Home this week earning a well deserved rest after mid-term examinations and the ordeal of escaping from the disastrous fire that destroyed the men's dormitory at Mississippi State last week is Bill McCutchan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McCutchan of Waveland.

Bill who is a freshman in the School of Engineering stated that he had retired for the night and awoke suddenly when he heard a commotion in the hall of the dormitory. When he entered the corridor outside of his room, one end of the hall was ablaze and the other end was filled with smoke. He managed to get to the end of the hall and escaped the burning building by descending the nearest fire escape. All his possessions were destroyed in the fire but a blonde haired Bill said, "These can be replaced. I was just glad to get out!"

Bill's roommate, Grady Perkins, Jr., of Bay St. Louis was not at State at the time of the fire. He had returned to the college Friday afternoon and completed his last test Saturday morning. Grady's personal possessions were lost in the fire too. Both boys will return to school within the next few days. Private homes, fraternal houses and other dormitories will be open to the boys until permanent housing quarters can be arranged.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Poursine who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last Saturday. They were given a surprise party by their daughter, Mrs. Charles Ferrey. Open house was held at the Poursine residence from 3 to 6 p.m. and many friends and well-wishers called during these hours. Everyone enjoyed delicious weding cake and remembered the Poursines with many beautiful gifts.

Birthday greetings are extended this week to Mr. A. W. Poursine of Waveland, and Alfred Classified Ads.

...of the Mississippi Forestry Association, according to Earl M. Westover, its Richland, Miss., president for 1959.

As a member of the Committee, Mr. Westover will be concerned with gathering information and with arranging for publication on the forest history of Mississippi. The Committee is currently working with the History Department of the University of Mississippi in this phase of the Association's activities.

In naming the 1959 Committee, Mr. Stevens said that the new committee will consist of a variety of programs on both the adult and youth levels. Major adult programs include contests, workshops, tours, speakers bureau which furnishes forestry speakers free of charge to civic groups, and the tree farm program. Conservation schools and forestry camps are among the primary youth activities.

General dietary advice cannot be applied to all children. Obesity may be due to overeating, underactivity, or other problems. Inadequate diet may be the cause of obesity, but it may have some underlying medical problem. In either case medical help is needed to determine causes.

But for the average child here's your quick "run-down" on foods: good, growing, digestible—4 or more meals a day; each meal a meal and cereal—4 or more portions; milk—4 or more glasses; fruits and vegetables—4 or more portions; watch C, check green and yellow, potatoes too; fats—deserts; watch the heavy child; special problems—you and your doctor.

To Select Rose Plants For Your Lot

There are a number of different types of rose plants on every property. While it is gratifying to select plants that appeal purely in relation to color, size, multiplicity or blooms, other characteristics, one should select roses for their many practical uses on the property. Blooming roses, for instance, add colorful flowers to the property over longer periods than any other shrub in the world.

According to the American Association of Nurserymen, some of the functional uses of roses are as follows:

For a formal rose garden, plants can be selected that provide for cutting especially blooms of high quality that can be conversation pieces in the neighborhood, as well as provide elegant long-stemmed blooms for inside the home. Hybrid tea roses are widely used in the formal rose garden.

2. As a living fence—roses can give a semi-full privacy depending on the plants selected. They can supply thousands of small blooms or hundreds of large blooms in many colors. The rose fence usually makes your neighbor as proud of it as you, provides a lovely dividing line between two properties. Floribunda, grandiflora or climbing rose plants may be used.

3. As specimen plants roses add color to the property. Grandiflora must have a big future in landscaping. They may be placed individually about the property, or with other shrubs along property borders and in the foundation planting, as desired. The plants are big and colorful.

4. Tree roses are colorful and distinctive bordering walkways or standing amongst lower-growing plants to add more height, dignity and elegance.

5. Miniature roses are attractive as low border plants. They provide a supply of dainty flowers for indoor decoration, especially table decorations.

6. Beside a porch a climbing rose plant can add shade as well as lovely color and bloom. Or properly trained on a trellis, the plants can enliven a drab garage with brilliant color, in front of a stone wall, or masonry, either floribunda or climbing roses can add color and life to otherwise cold structures.

Everyone recognizes the rose immediately. Some of the newer varieties are conversation pieces, and are much admired by friends. New colors, from lavender to orange, with many new shades of yellow, pink and red, have been produced by famous hybridizers here and abroad.

So select your rose plants with care and with the advice of your nurseryman to serve functionally, as well as for beauty.

Six weeks report cards were given out by Sister Raphael Monday.

Quite a number of empty desks in the high school classes in the past week. The flu seems to be going around... hope it doesn't get me as I would like to keep my perfect attendance record for the remainder of the term.

Strike up of new romances recently—Carolyne F and J. S.—Angel and B. M.

Best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Artigues Jr., who were married Saturday morning.

Father stated the ladies' mission held last week was a wonderful success. Wonder if the men's attendance will equal that of the ladies?

MISS. SAFETY COUNCIL STATE 547 TRAFFIC DEATHS UNAVOIDABLE

The Mississippi Safety Council stated that many of the 547 traffic deaths in Mississippi in 1958 might not have occurred if drivers had observed all traffic regulations and the basic, common sense rules of safe driving.

Council president, John C. Underwood said that most of the 1958 traffic deaths occurred in accidents caused by carelessness.

"When the people of Mississippi," he stated, "wake up to the fact that most accidents can be prevented by observance of a few basic rules, we will begin to see fewer of the terrible tragedies which marred our record last year."

"Some of our problems can be solved by the Legislature," he stated. "We expect the 1958 regular Session of the Mississippi Legislature to take decisive action to provide Periodic Motor Vehicle Inspection, and to strengthen our Drivers License Law to provide for stricter regulation; but, we know that these measures can only do part of the job. The careless and irresponsible driver is still the real problem, and it is going to take a stricter enforcement program, backed by solid public opinion to eliminate this hazard."

Underwood further added,

"Mississippi people, in local communities throughout this state, determine the type traffic law enforcement they will have. Public support of the strict enforcement of our traffic laws, showing no favoritism, can do much to reduce accidents in Mississippi."
